

Welcome to a new edition of our IPI Newsletter (Edition April 2007)

IPI Newsletter in a new dress!

Dear reader

The new edition of the IPI Newsletter shows up with some interesting changes.

First: The IPI Newsletter appears in a modified dress in HTML-format

Second: IPI intends to send out the IPI Newsletter monthly.

Third: At the beginning of the newsletter you find the current seminars data for the next few months.

We wish you some informative minutes in reading this edition!

IPI Services, New!

The introduction of new technologies is given sustainable support via consortia and shared interest groups, which emerge and coalesce via the IPI network. IPI is involved in international research programs investigating technologies and processes which may have a significant impact on the packaging and packing industry.

IPI offers you different opportunities for individual services:

IPI Tailor-made Seminars

Are you confused by packaging waste regulations? What is «environmentally friendly» packaging? Do you know how to optimize shelf life through packaging? Lacking information about packaging suppliers? Want to know more about print processes? The IPI, through its extensive experience and networks, has developed educational courses to suit the needs of packaging manufacturers, brand owners, retailers and participants throughout the entire supply chain.

IPI Technology Consulting

Do you want sustainable profitable growth? Are you looking for new ways to differentiate? Do you search for a competitive advantage through new investment? Technology developments lie at the heart of successful packaging. IPI guides you effectively to the answers you need.

IPI Strategic Consulting

If you intend to start a leaner production, if you are looking for new suppliers or if you are seeking to optimize your production process - you can profit from our access to an internationally experienced consultancy network to get directly and fast to your target. Finally, IPI offers you enhanced strategic consulting power due to cooperations with established well known consultancy partners, such as Deloitte & Touche, MC Partners and others.
